Theme – How required course activities impacted the meeting experience

“It was helpful to look at abstracts and judge them to be good, bad or mediocre. This changed the way I viewed the works at the conference. Where I would have previously gone in accepting all the research as fact, this helped me realize that these papers are capable of error and are not necessarily accurate.”

“Building an itinerary for the class was very useful. This made me more aware of the variety of talks being presented.”
Career Benefits

Actions to pursue a wildlife career

“…furthering your education after undergrad is very important if a lifelong career is wanted in the wildlife profession.”

“I definitely have a larger list of people to contact when my graduation date comes close”; “I do feel that graduate school is much more appealing because of the conference.”
Social Benefits

Becoming more social in the profession

“The mixer was definitely planned as a more informal event, and it was nice to meet professionals in a relaxed, friendly atmosphere”

“The biggest surprise to me was how relaxed everybody was and how open they were to talking to other people. After their presentation, most speakers welcomed students and professionals to talk with them and ask them questions. I was also kind of surprised at how willing some professionals were to talk to students. For example, Dr. X and Dr. Y initiated a conversation with [us] instead of the other way around.”
Discussion

- Exposure to social and cultural norms of their field
- Daily meetings provided supportive environment
  - “Safe” environment for practicing professional social skills
- Challenges to teaching professional skills
- Social integration and sense of community/belonging
- Benefits of the structure and environment of the classroom
- Current and future courses and workshop
